

NEBRASKA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1881.

Window Shades at Nickell's.

Some of the slow-goers among the papers are just getting around to the Slocumb law. THE ADVERTISER published the law over two months ago.

Lost.—A forked gold cravat pin, with crystallized quartz set. Finder please leave at this office and be rewarded. D. P. COGDILL.

Sam Rich and Joe Penn are painting the postoffice front and inside woodwork, and putting fresh figures on the boxes. There is no p. o. in the state that presents a neater cleaner or more tasty appearance than the Brownville postoffice.

A few nights ago the safe of the Pawnee county treasurer was opened and $5,880 of the county's money stolen. The keys to the safe were first stolen from the treasurer's pocket while he was asleep at home and no violence was done to the lock. The treasurer's son was suspected, arrested and discharged, and who the robber is remains a mystery.

Atchison Globe: It is reported that the old road bed between Falls City and Brownville, graded and abandoned several years ago by the busted Midland Pacific company, is to be ironed at once by the B. & M., and extended southeast to Hiawatha, Ala. that the B. & M. will occupy the gap between Nebraska City and Plattsmouth, making a continuous and short line on this side of the river to Omaha.

And now comes the said Jay Gould and looks up and down the Missouri river leaving the impression on the minds of men that he is contemplating a railroad from Atchison to Omaha on the west bank of said river. The rumor strikes Brownville all over, when she thinks in connection with it of the early advent of the Quincy M. & F., and the bridge, and so forth.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Alex. Snow and Joseph Clearwater, proprietors Brownville livery stable, is dissolved, by mutual consent, Joseph Clearwater retiring from the firm. All accounts payable to Alex. Snow who will continue the business at the same place.

ALEX. SNOW, JOSEPH CLEARWATER.

On Tuesday of last week while some children were at play at the house of Mr. Albert Leeper, near Sheridan, the old story was repeated in a most sad and tragic way. They found a convenient gun, and Otto Deval, 13 years old, pointed it at little Nettie, daughter of Eli Wood, pulled the trigger and sent a load of shot into the left side of little Nettie, killing her instantly. Comment and caution about leaving firearms in the reach of children is unnecessary. The destruction of the innocents from criminal carelessness will go on all the same.

The deadlock at Albany is still on, and the voting for the various candidates varies but little from day to day—Conkling's vote being from 33 to 35 and Platt's from 26 to 29. The anti-stalwarts are believed to be using money very lavishly, and three of them have been detected in offering bribes and exposed. Depew the leading half-breed railroad monopolist candidate has been receiving as high as 54 votes, and it can be accounted for in no way but through the use of bribe money. An investigation is taking place of the bribery charges. We see nothing that indicates what the end will be.

The man who shot and robbed Angel in Atchison county, Mo., last week was arrested a few days afterward at Charle's Iowa, taken back to Rock Port and placed in jail. On Saturday morning next, a party of twenty or thirty masked men took the assassin from the jail and hanged him on a tree until dead. His name was Thomas Reinhammer. Angel, at last account was yet alive. It is reported of Reinhammer, that after shooting Angel he went to Burlington Junction, on the St. Louis and Omaha Road, and while patronizing the saloons, sang "I want to be an angel" etc. He got there much sooner than he had expected.

LOCAL PERSONALS.

Al. E. Ewan, of Sheridan, dropped in on us Monday.

S. P. Robertson, of Lafayette precinct, called on us Monday.

C. E. Bingham, of York, Neb., gave Brownville a visit this week.

Mr. S. Miller, of Johnson, called and subscribed for our paper Tuesday.

J. L. Carson has been gone for several days on a trip to Pennsylvania.

Gov. Furnas went to Lincoln Tuesday to attend the Grand Lodge of the Temple of Honor.

We were gratified on Tuesday last at receiving a call from Hon. J. G. Ewan, of Lafayette, and his surrogate little boy Al. E. We are very much acquainted with Al, but not so with the elder gentleman, and hope the acquaintance thus begun will be mutually agreeable.

Little Elsie, child of S. A. Osborn Esq., about two years old, swallowed a nickel coin Tuesday and was for a while very sick, and vomiting so that medical remedies could not be retained in the stomach. We are pleased to learn, however, as we go to press, that she is much better and out of danger. She is a very delicate child.

Hon. M. B. Reyman favored us with a call and an interesting chat, on Tuesday. We were pleased to have the gentleman call, notwithstanding the "unpleasantness" of last winter. Mr. Reyman knows as does every other man who reads our paper, that from our standpoint our position on the main issues was reasonable; and he had the manhood to call and talk it over, and the good sense to not say of the paper.

BARB WIRE.

Notwithstanding our large trade in barb wire last season, 1880, we have again commanded the trade, and sold over 350,000 pounds since Jan. 1st, 1881. This fact alone proves the excellence of our wire. We handle the following first class licensed wire: The Joliet and Baker & Scott's patents. Call and see us. WILLIAMS BROS. & JOHNSON.

Our Lafayette correspondent, Mr. Ward, is a correct reader, a liberal thinker, and distinguishes well between true, or real journalism, and the spurious kind too often palmed off upon a credulous and suffering people for a genuine article. We like such a citizen as Mr. Ward, because he has an opinion and accords to others the same right, regardless of difference. He believes editors should make up their opinions independent of politicians, rings, ownerships, etc. THE ADVERTISER indorses Mr. Ward's ideas, and is proud to say it is precisely that kind of a "hair pin." The right of opinion is the dearest right of an American, and the one above all others that he will fight for when necessary, and THE ADVERTISER being true-blue American, and believing most earnestly in according all liberty that does not conflict with the rights of others, it would be recreant to its own conscience and dastardly in its own estimation were it otherwise than ready to take a position on any question of local or national interest, and to accord, in its columns, that same right to others. We were a little disgusted and considerably amused the other day in hearing that somebody was surprised that THE ADVERTISER should espouse the Conkling side of the present disturbance in our party, while Hon. Church Howe was for the administration. When the trouble had assumed a rather heated and interesting phase, and the people had begun to take sides and discuss the merits and demerits of the factions, we were frequently asked: "Which side does Church Howe take? Where do Bill Dailey and Tom Majors stand?" We didn't then know, and didn't care; but it did seem a little curious when we since learned that Mr. Howe sympathizes with the President and that Dailey and Majors are rampant for Conkling. THE ADVERTISER, having a mind of its own, followed its undeviating custom of not going out to consult as to what this or that one believed or advised, or waiting to see which way the cat was going to jump, before it dare have anything to say on the subject. We like our friends and value their counsels, but they must not expect us to consult them upon the tone and bearing of our editorials. It's too much trouble. In concluding these thoughts we desire to say to Mr. Ward, write for us frequently, and understand this, that we do not intend to indulge in partisan war on the president, whom we like and believe to be as stalwart as anybody. The burthen of what we have said about the deplorable affair has been intended as defending Mr. Conkling against the unfair and, in many instances, false and malicious war waged against him. We could not conscientiously join the attack against him, for, as a great contemporary has said, we cannot just now engage in shooting veterans. Although Mr. Conkling is not blameless in the matter, yet, as he has committed no capital offense, we want him to live and serve again, as the superior intellect in the National Senate.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

An Invitation to Join Peru in Celebrating.

PERU, NEB., June 6th, 1881. Capt. Jno. L. Carson, Brownville, Neb.

Dear Sir: At a Mass meeting of our citizens on Saturday last, I was directed to consult with you, and other prominent citizens of Brownville, with a view of having your citizens join ours in a Fourth of July celebration at this place. Our people would feel complimented by such a union, and in view of the fact that this would be the most inexpensive point and the most convenient for your people, because of the expense in the morning and down train in evening. We feel sure you will join us, if you do not contemplate a gathering at your place. Please confer with your people and let us know at your earliest convenience so that you may be properly represented on the programme.

Very Respectfully, WILSON E. MAJORS.

It strikes THE ADVERTISER as just the thing for Brownville to do—join Peru in celebrating—or, at least go to Peru and enjoy their hospitality. We suggest a meeting of our citizens to consider the matter.

The miserable wretch, Clark, the murderer and would be suicide, on Thursday of last week, made another desperate attempt to take his life. He first tried to strangle himself by twisting his vest around his neck. Another prisoner, confined in the corridor of the jail for a light offense, gave the alarm which brought the jailer in, or he possibly would have choked himself to death. Being thwarted in this, he tore open the old cut on his neck, and lacerated it afresh with a rusty nail that he in some way had got hold of, and he held until, as the sheriff said, he certainly had not a gill of blood left in his veins. But he is still alive. While he was bleeding and a surgeon—Dr. Stewart—was trying to close his wound he acted like a maniac and it took all the power of three strong men to hold his arms. They finally succeeded in pinning him, hand and foot. Clark's father-in-law, Mr. Allard of Garden Grove Iowa was in the city at the time, and had had an interview with the murderer of his daughter. Mr. Allard said Clark had never been crazy as long as he knew him, and would not believe him crazy now. He knew him to be lazy, wild, mean, and cruel to his wife, but not crazy.

THE LITERARY REVOLUTION.

Change of Base.

This very remarkable enterprise continues to make such progress as to astonish its friends and astound its enemies. Its greatly increasing proportions have compelled the removal of its headquarters from the Tribune Building to the very large and beautiful building, No. 704 Broadway, which is the very center of the "book district" of New York City, and, therefore, of the publishing enterprise of the nation. This building, though six stories in height 25 feet front and 100 feet deep, is sufficient only for the offices and retail store of the company. The manufacturing is carried on in several large buildings located in other parts of the city, thoughtless commentators concentrating them soon to one immense factory to be erected. Their list of recent and easy forthcoming publications are extremely interesting to all who enjoy what is choicest in literature. The Library Magazine is unique in both form and character and altogether delightful in the richness of its contents. Of the books announced, Green's larger "History of the English People," reduced from $10 to $1; Carlyle's "History of the French Revolution," reduced to 40 cents; Carlyle's "Heroes and Hero Worship," 25 cents; and the "Revised New Testament," which is proposed to be manufactured with rapidity heretofore unheard of, will attract special attention. It is worth while for every one who has not already seen it, to send and get the illustrated pamphlet, "Book-Making, and Type-Setting by Steam," which will be sent free upon application. Address, the American Book Exchange, 704 Broadway, New York.
